

MILLER'S SURPLUS TOTALS $36,000,000

Governor Closes Administration With Finances in Excellent Shape.

RESULT OF ECONOMIES

Estimated Revenues Are $126,000,000; Resources, $162,000,000.

REPORT TO LEGISLATURE

Executive Believes Increasing Government Cost Can Be Offset by Efficiency.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.

Gov. Nathan L. Miller as chairman of the Board of Estimate and Control closed his administration today by submitting to the Legislature for the first time in the history of the State a formal complete financial plan for the ensuing fiscal year.

That the State is in an enviable financial position is indicated by this budget. A surplus, estimated as of July 1, 1923, of nearly $36,000,000 is shown and the estimated revenues are more than $126,000,000, resources in excess of $162,000,000 for the financial requirements of the next fiscal year. This condition is especially notable in view of the fact that during the last two fiscal years the direct and indirect taxes have been $27,000,000 less each year than similar taxes collected two years ago.

The Budget Summary.

A general summary of the budget follows:

ESTIMATE OF AVAILABLE RESOURCES.

Total appropriations recommended.

Balance of estimated resources available for (1) immediately available appropriations, (2) increased appropriations for current operating expenses and (3) surplus.

The principal increases under the different groups are accounted for as follows:

Regulative.

This group includes the following departments: Health, Labor, Public Service, Tax, Motion Picture, Athletic Commission and other small agencies. Increases are recommended for the Departments of Health and Labor and the Tax Department for personal service to provide for the natural expansion of those activities.

In the Tax Department increases are recommended both in the immediately available appropriations and in those for the ensuing year. A deficiency item of $30,000 and an increase for next year of $40,000 for personal service are recommended because of additional work imposed by new statutes carrying no appropriation to provide for such work.

The increases above referred to are to some extent offset by decreases recommended for the other departments and agencies in this group.

Educational.

This group includes the Education Department, the State College for Teachers and the State normal schools, the appropriation for the support and education of deaf and blind pupils and the contribution of the State to localities for the support of common and high schools. The total appropriation recommended for this group is $41,538,644.82, being 40 per cent. of the total budget herewith submitted.

The increase in this group is accounted for by (a) an increase of $3,435,000 in the State's contribution to the support of common and high schools due to the increased number of schools and teachers and more liberal appropriations for certain special educational fields; (b) an increase of over $10,000 for normal schools; (c) an increase of $45,000 for the support and education of State pupils in the institutions for the blind and deaf under recent amendments of the law, and (d) a new appropriation of over $75,000 as the State's contribution toward the State teachers' retirement system.

Agricultural.

This group includes the Department of Farms and Markets, New York Agricultural Experiment Station, the College of Agriculture and the Veterinary College at Cornell University, the Schools of Agriculture, Syracuse College of Forestry and the State Fair Commission. The principal increase in this group is $258,000 for indemnities for slaughtered tubercular cattle. There are other smaller increases in this group offset in part by decreases.

Penal.

This group includes the five State prisons, the two hospital prisons, the Prison Department and other penal activities of the State, and appropriations for transportation of convicts and the board of prisoners in penitentiaries.

The increases in this group are chiefly accounted for by (a) an increase of $40,000 for personal service to provide for an estimated increase in inmate population; (b) an increase of $145,000 for maintenance and operation mainly to provide for an estimated increase in prison population and higher cost of coal and additional repairs; (c) an increase of $175,000 for board of prisoners in penitentiaries, $100,000 of which is for the current year and $75,000 an increase for next year.

Curative.

This group includes the State Hospital Commission and the fourteen State hospitals for the insane.

The increases in this group are accounted for by (a) scheduled increases for personal service aggregating $140,000; (b) increased appropriations both for maintenance and operation and personal service to provide for an estimated increase of 750 of the inmate population; (c) an increase of $160,000 due to an increase recommended in the ratio of attendants and nurses to patients from 1-10 to 1-8 in all hospitals, except the Brooklyn State Hospital, where an increase to 1-8 is recommended because of local conditions. The actual average ratio of nurses and attendants to patients in all State hospitals for the year 1922 was 1-12.6. In 1921 that ratio was 1-10.3. In 1922 an average ratio of 1-10 was attained for all hospitals, with a higher ratio varying from 1-8.1 to 1-9 in seven hospitals.

Charitable.

This group includes the Board of Charities, State Commission for Mental Defectives and the State charitable institutions.

The increase in this group is principally accounted for by (a) personal service, $120,000 for scheduled increases and new positions to care for increased population; (b) maintenance and operation, $261,000, for an increase in the inmate population and the increased cost of fuel.

Some additional provision is made in this group for an extension of the preventive work, particularly in the field service under the Commission for Mental Defectives. Progress along this line in this group is not yet as patent as in the hospital group.

Constructive.

This group includes the office of State Engineer, State Architect and Highway Commission. The increase recommended is due (a) to an increase of $105,000 in State aid for town highways, and (b) of $178,840 in State aid for county highways. Such increases are partly offset by reductions in the office of State Engineer and in the maintenance and operation of the Highway Department.

Although the foregoing increases total $6,460,000, the net increase of all appropriations recommended over appropriations for corresponding objects and purposes last year is only, in round numbers, $3,250,000, which is $500,000 less than the increase for education alone, half of the increase for the purposes specified being absorbed in reductions, eliminations and economies.

Capital Fund Increases.

Attention should be called to the increase of $33,000 in the capital fund appropriation. This is for personal service. It is recommended to carry out the program which has been initiated of putting the prison industries on a business basis so as ultimately to provide some compensation to inmate labor and to inaugurate a more humane policy of dealing with the prison problem with the view of saving the reclaimable human material in the prisons and of effecting economies for the State by establishing the prison industries on a productive manufacturing basis. To do that it is necessary to provide a larger and more efficient civilian force of supervisors.

MURPHY GIVES OUT JOBS FOR SMITH

The Superintendent of Public Buildings, which carries with it much small patronage in the State buildings. Just how the interests of Albany, Troy, Schenectady and the organizations in the other cities in the capital district were being settled was not made known to-night, but it was said Mr. Murphy was quite sure he would have everything smoothed out by Monday, when the state will be announced.

Picking a Justice.

One important appointment to which the Ross is giving much thought is the selection of a successor to Samuel Greenbaum, Justice of the Supreme Court in New York, whose term expires. The candidates include Joseph M. Proskauer, who was one of Mr. Smith's campaign managers; John G. Saxe, Aaron J. Levy of the Municipal Court and Jeremiah T. Manohay, Levy was said to be in the lead.

While Mr. Murphy and the little group of colleagues are working in room 297 smoothing the way for Al so that he will have no organization dissensions to face when he goes into office the hundreds of Tammany men and up-State Democrats are celebrating without any care for the serious problems involved. It is enough for them that Al is the winner and is going back into the Governor's chair again. Most of the New York Tammany men are accompanied by their wives, who are every bit as enthusiastic over the inaugural as are their political husbands. They all went to the inaugural ball to-night.

The ball is one of the functions that accompany the inducing into office of every new Governor, and the proceeds are distributed among charitable institutions. Mrs. Chauncey Pratt Williams, chairman of the committee on arrangements, said hundreds of tickets were subscribed for by New York friends of Governor-elect Smith and that the attendance was the largest in many years. Governor-elect Smith and his family arrived at the Armory at 9:30 o'clock, after attending a birthday party at Wol-fert's Roost, given in honor of his forty-ninth birthday by Charles M. Winchester and William A. Humphrey.

They were joined at the entrance of the armory by Gov. and Mrs. Miller. Both the incoming and outgoing Governors were accompanied by their military staffs, attired in their most brilliant uniforms, and they were greeted by deafening applause as they marched into the armory to the music of the Tenth Regiment Band.

Four Generals attended the ball. They were Major-Gen. John F. O'Ryan, commander of the Twenty-seventh Division, Brig-Gen. James W. Lester, Adj-Gen. Charles W. Berry and Brig-Gen. Franklin W. Ward.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Miller headed the receiving line. The patronesses were:

Mrs. James P. Bord, Mrs. Ledyard Cogswell, Mrs. Edwin Corning, Mrs. Arthur Eiting, Mrs. Edgar M. Griffith, Mrs. Edward R. Hunt, Mrs. Henry Hunt, Mrs. Frederick W. Kuley, Mrs. G. V. Lansing, Miss Annie D. McClellan, Mrs. Charles E. McElroy, Mrs. MacNaughton Miller, Mrs. G. Ashton Oldham, Mrs. Frederic Pruyn, Mrs. William Gorham Rice, Mr. Harry W. Sage, Mrs. William H. Sage, Mrs. Henry L. K. Shaw, Mrs.

William Bayard Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Charles E. Walsh, Mrs. Edward S. Waterman and Mrs. Chauncey P. Williams.

Mrs. Smith wore a gown of gold brocade with white satin. The shirt was plain and the bodice draped and heavily embroidered with gold thread and pearls. Twin rows of pearls outlined the décolletage. A long rectangular train was embroidered to match the bodice. Completing the costume was a cape of velvet, lined with cloth of gold combined with satin. The collar was of white fox.

Mrs. Miller wore a gown of white fox and Miss Emily Smith was attired in a gown of silver cloth of old rose hue and Miss Catherine Smith wore a silver gown of greenish hue.

TO FOLLOW CHILD'S PROGRESS.

One-quarter of the number of deaths within any given period are of children under 12 years of age. In recognition of this costly mortality fact, the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital has evolved a plan to follow for twelve years after birth the progress of all children born in that institution. The hope is that children's diseases may be reduced to a minimum if a successful follow up method can be found.
